Introduction

This Privacy Policy explains in detail the types of personal data we may collect about you when you interact with us. It also explains how we store and handle that data and keep it safe.

We may need to update this Privacy Policy from time to time.

The Law

The law on data protection sets out a number of different reasons for which a company may collect and process your personal data, including:

Consent

In specific situations, we can collect and process your data with your consent.

For example, when you tick a box to receive email newsletters.

When collecting your personal data, we'll always make clear to you which data is necessary in connection with a particular service.

Contractual obligations

In certain circumstances, we need your personal data to comply with our contractual obligations.

Autism Bedfordshire has a contractual obligation with a number of different funders to pass on some personal data on users to help monitor the performance of the contractual work. For example, Autism Bedfordshire collect data about users from members of the VCS Consortium and then collates this data to send to Luton Borough Council as of part of the Consortium's funding agreement with London Luton Airport Ltd.

Legal compliance

If the law requires us to, we may need to collect and process your data.

Legitimate interest

In specific situations, we require your data to pursue our legitimate interests in a way which might reasonably be expected as part of running our charity and which does not materially impact your rights, freedom or interests.

For example, we will use your address details to send you information by post, telling you about services that we think might interest you.

Vital interest

When processing is necessary to protect someone's life.

For example, for emergency medical care, when we need to process personal data for medical purposes but the individual is incapable of giving consent to the processing.

Reports on projects

We make sure that the data presented in these reports is generally not personalised. However, we do compile case studies based on individual users and use some photos of users. We normally keep these case studies anonymous and would only use a user's name if implicit permission is given by the user or their family. We also make sure that permission has been given by users and their families for photos used in reports even if they do not include the user's name. For example, Autism Bedfordshire acts as the Lead Body for the VCS Short Breaks Consortium and produces an Annual Report on Consortium services that uses analysis of generalised data, anonymous case studies, and photos (where consent has been given).
